Welcome to Woodstock!

THE "CHARM" OF WOODSTOCK

IN THE LAST GREEN VALLEY

Along Route 169, one of America's National Scenic Byways, you'll experience the beauty, charm and tranquility of one of the rural towns that make up the pastoral setting of Northeastern Connecticut. The town of Woodstock was settled in 1686, and is made up of six distinct villages: South Woodstock, Woodstock Hill, North Woodstock, East Woodstock, West Woodstock and Woodstock Valley.

As the second largest town in acreage in Connecticut, Woodstock is a rural, historic community with an agricultural background. Perpetuating the history, traditions, and folklore of over 325 years, the town remains a cluster of villages epitomizing the character of New England. Enjoy the historic sites, farms, craft shops, antique shops, and restaurants, intermingled with light industry, which adds to the charm of Woodstock. We invite you to sample the beauty and charm of Woodstock!

...WE KNOW YOU'LL COME BACK!

ANNUAL WOODSTOCK EVENTS

COME ENJOY WOODSTOCK!

Woodstock has a variety of events for all ages throughout the year, hosted by different businesses and organizations in town, including the Woodstock Business Association. In September, experience a mix of carnival rides, concerts, contests, and more at the Woodstock Fair on Labor Day weekend. On every third Saturday after Labor Day, take the family to Celebrating Agriculture, a fun, free educational day about the farming and forestry industries.

You can also discover treasures in local shops around town! More arts and crafts abound at the Annual Roseland Cottage Fine Arts & Crafts Festival in October. There's also a Holiday Celebration & Open House for Woodstock businesses on Thanksgiving weekend. Don't forget to visit the calendar of events online at explorewoodstock.com, where you can learn about more annual Woodstock happenings.

AGRICULTURE

THE CHARM OF WOODSTOCK

Many visitors to Woodstock comment on the natural beauty of our town. Farming is vital to maintaining the rural landscape that many of our residents and visitors enjoy. Pastures, corn fields, orchards, vineyards, and gardens all contribute to Woodstock's rural charm. In addition to open space and beautiful vistas, local farms promote food security, and help keep property taxes lower.

You can support local farms and the open space associated with their activities by learning about farms in the community, and buying local products. Take a farm tour to learn about the work involved. Vote in support of your farming neighbors. Request local products at grocery stores and restaurants. Plan a family fun day at your local pick-your-own farm.
